

Governor Newsom's Emergency Response

Governor Newsom has written a letter to President Trump, asking for healthcare aid to California this past week. The Governor projects that over half of California, 25 million people, will be infected with COVID-19 in the next eight-week period. Governor Newsom went so far as to ask President Trump for the use of a Navy hospital ship for a triage center- just in case. Governor Newsom has also stated that the use of Martial Law is not off the table in his response to the spread of the virus and he has already put the National Guard in California on notice. Unfortunately, the Governor's response to Californians as teetered between alarmist and prudent. Californian's deserve clear instructions in regards to the "shelter-in-place" without our Constitutional rights (both state and Federal) being manipulated. We urge the Governor to continue with Californian's best health and safety interests at heart and resist the urge to play partisan politics in the time of crisis.
